

RiseNow Boilerplates

One line:

RiseNow is a practitioner-led procurement and supply chain advisory and managed services firm.

Short, for event programs and partner pages:

RiseNow is an award-winning, practitioner-led procurement and supply chain firm founded in 2010 and headquartered in Leawood, Kansas. The firm helps mid-size to Fortune 2000 organizations transform how they source, buy, and manage spend through digital procurement, Source-to-Pay implementation, and US-based managed services.

Full, for press releases and formal listings:

RiseNow is an award-winning, practitioner-led, global procurement and supply chain advisory and managed services firm founded in 2010 and headquartered in Leawood, Kansas. The firm helps mid-size to Fortune 2000 organizations across every industry transform how they source, buy, and manage spend through digital procurement and Source-to-Pay implementation. RiseNow also brings deep supply chain operations expertise to health systems and hospitals, supporting inventory, logistics, and the flow of goods through complex clinical environments. Across procurement and supply chain alike, US-based managed services take tactical work off client teams, combining advisory depth with hands-on execution. Through RiseTalent, its apprenticeship program, the firm is building the next generation of skilled procurement and supply chain professionals. In October 2024, RiseNow received strategic growth investments from private equity firms Achieve Partners and Avante Capital Partners to expand its operations and talent development. Learn more at risenow.com.